

EPA's Supplemental Proposal Toolkit

On October 4, President Trump, congressional biofuels champions, USDA Secretary Perdue, and EPA Administrator Wheeler agreed on a plan to address the economic crisis created by the abuse of small refinery exemptions (SREs), which have destroyed demand for more than four billion gallons of biofuel. However, on October 15, EPA released a supplement proposal that betrays the President's promise to ensure that farm families and biofuel producers have the certainty they need to rebuild after three years of demand destruction.

We need your help. Join Growth Energy in calling on EPA to uphold the President's agreement with rural champions by submitting a comment to EPA.

The public comment period closes on November 30, 2019, so make your voice heard TODAY!

In addition to submitting an EPA a comment through Growth Energy's action center, please share the sample social media posts below to tell the EPA that the abuse of small refinery waivers must end – and lost gallons must be reallocated!

“America's farmers and biofuel producers can't take another year of @EPA's rampant oil exemptions. It's time they heard directly from us on this: Stop abusing the refinery exemption process.” https://p2a.co/LOZYVYm
“85 small refinery exemptions have been issued over the last three years, and they've been a punch to the gut for rural America. Tell @EPA: Uphold President Trump's biofuel deal and make this right.” https://p2a.co/LOZYVYm
“President Trump made a deal — 15 billion gallons would mean 15 billion gallons. Tell @EPA to account for lost gallons and restore demand.” https://p2a.co/LOZYVYm
